

NextDecade Comments on Today's Court Actions

August 6, 2024

HOUSTON--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Aug. 6, 2024-- Today, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit (Court) issued an order vacating the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's (FERC) remand authorization of NextDecade Corporation's (NextDecade) (Nasdaq: NEXT) Rio Grande LNG Facility on the grounds that the FERC should have issued a supplemental Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) during its remand process.

NextDecade is disappointed in the Court's decision and disagrees with its conclusions. The Company is reviewing the Court's decision and assessing all of its options. At this time, construction continues on the first three liquefaction trains and related infrastructure (Phase 1) at the Rio Grande LNG Facility, and the Company is evaluating the impact of the Court's decision on the timing of a positive final investment decision (FID) on Train 4.

About NextDecade Corporation

Forward-Looking Statements

This press release contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of U.S. federal securities laws. The words "anticipate," "contemplate," "estimate," "expect," "project," "plan," "intend," "believe," "may," "might," "will," "would," "could," "could," "can have," "likely," "continue," "design," "assume," "budget," "guidance," "forecast," and "target," and other words and terms of similar expressions are intended to identify forward-looking statements, and these statements may relate to the business of NextDecade and its subsidiaries. These statements have been based on assumptions and analysis made by NextDecade in light of current expectations, perceptions of historical trends, current conditions and projections about future events and trends and involve a number of known and unknown risks, which may cause actual results to differ materially from expectations expressed or implied in the forward-looking statements. Although NextDecade believes that the expectations reflected in these forward-looking statements are reasonable, it can give no assurance that the expectations will prove to be correct. NextDecade's actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in these forward-looking statements as a result of a variety of factors, including those discussed in NextDecade's periodic reports that are filed with and available from the Securities and Exchange Commission. Additionally, any development of subsequent trains at the Rio Grande LNG Facility or CCS projects remains contingent upon receipt of requisite governmental approvals, execution of definitive commercial and financing agreements, securing all financing commitments and potential tax incentives, achieving other customary conditions and making a final investment decision to proceed. The forward-looking statements, however, it disclaims any commitment to do so except as required by securities laws.
